

Today
By Arthur Brisbane

Yesterday John D. Rockefeller celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday at a small family gathering and played his usual nine holes of golf in excellent health.

Those that waste money, enjoying great wealth, may find comfort in the fact that Mr. Rockefeller gets no more out of life than any other man of his age, except the satisfaction of knowing that a fortune accumulated in his youth is doing good work all over the world, now, in his leisure.

A beautiful German poem tells of an old vine on the hill in Winter, stripped of its leaves and grapes, while the wine from the grapes was making men happy far away.

RUDYARD KIPLING says that only twelve among all the writers of 5000 years can be called "immortals." But he does not name the other eleven. What would be your list? Homer, Dante and Shakespeare the first three probably.

Goethe and Cervantes the next two perhaps. Many would put Goethe next to Shakespeare.

N O list could satisfy the opinion of a majority. Villon

Scranton, Pa., July 9 (I.N.S.).—Returning to his former home here today, Sam Maringo of Philadelphia quarreled with his wife over money matters, standing within a few feet of the casket that contained the body of a relative, shot Mrs. Maringo. While the mourners looked on, Maringo turned his revolver on the two sisters-in-law, Carrie Nedelka and Anna Spasi, wounding them severely. A detective brought him down with a bullet in the leg. The three victims were taken to a hospital, where it was said they probably would die.

any prints in the army, navy or Marine Corps files.

Several hundred photographic copies of the fingerprints were being run off today and they will be distributed to police identification bureaus through New England and the East.

While the fingerprints, revolver and white coat are regarded as principal articles looking toward clues, the three-dimensional ring dropped by the murderer is also depended upon as a possible means of finding the killer.

LOOK OVER SUSPECT.

The mystery ring was taken to Rosewater in his jewelry store at No. 410 Massachusetts avenue, South End, by the slayer, and when a taxi driver was leaving the shop he heard the jeweler and the negro in a discussion of the ring's merits. Rosewater, somebody may have seen the ring in possession of the negro, police say, and such persons usually come forward and give information when they realize a criminal incident they had forgotten is important.

DAWES LEAVES FOR CHICAGO

Vice-President Dawes, accompanied by Mrs. Dawes, left Boston for Chicago today, after participating in the 100th anniversary celebration and a brief stay in this city. The Vice-President and his wife boarded a Boston & Albany train at the North Station.

The last minutes of the Vice-President's stay in Boston were spent with Mrs. Dawes, who was in the city to see him. Mrs. Dawes is a descendant of an early New England governor. Before going to Cambridge, he took a brief walk about the streets of the city with former Governor Cox, who dropped in to see him at the Copple Place Hotel.

When asked to comment on the outbreak of the President's visit to the White House, Mr. Dawes said he was in the White House in 1901, and that he was in the White House in 1901, and that he was in the White House in 1901.

KIPLING REFUSES TO NAME BEST WRITERS

Bureau, Boston, July 9 (A.P.)—The matter is too controversial to give a personal list, but the Associated Press today asked the author to name the twelve writers he had suggested as the best of literature. Kipling's name was not included in the list.

The author's statement, made in an address before the Royal Society of Literature Wednesday night, was that he had suggested as the best of literature the twelve writers he had suggested as the best of literature.

MRS. BUDLONG GRILLS LAWYER

In full condition, the Naval authorities stated, it is expected to identify the body of the first man removed from the wreckage.

Dr. Lane said there were three ways in which identification might be made.

Through the official identification, the body of the first man removed from the wreckage.

The official naval board of inquiry was already in session, and those who entered the room were not, were instructed to report what information they had gathered on the scene and then go on with them.

Q—Did you leave the vicinity at any time? A—I don't remember when we did leave.

WHEELER FLARES UP.
 Q—Your memory is almost as bad as the memory of some of the other witnesses in this case—can't it?

Attorney Wheeler flared to his feet with an angry objection and Judge Bidgood, showing unquestionable signs of displeasure at Mrs. Budlong's remark, clipped out:

Q—When did you return after the crash? A—I think it was after lunch. We tried to get in by train.

Q—What happened after lunch that afternoon? A—I recall it, you came to the house in an auto. We went in with you.

Q—Did you speak to Mrs. Budlong when you saw her arrive? A—I imagine so. I think we must have said, "How do you do, Mrs. Budlong."

Q—Did Mrs. Budlong invite you to her home? A—I don't just remember whether you did or not.

Q—Didn't you rush in without an invitation? A—No. We walked in with you.

Q—Do you remember sitting down the door when you called at Mrs. Budlong's home?

The lawyer answered: "I don't know whether I did or not, Mr. Wheeler. I am not sure."

Q—We waited for the mail man to come along and then go in with them.

Q—Did you stay outside the house after you tried to open the door? A—I don't remember if I did. I think I did try to open the door.

In Mrs. Budlong's parlor with her? A—I don't think we did at first.

Q—Well, you finally sat down in the parlor with Mrs. Budlong? A—Yes.

Q—And do you remember a conversation you had with her in which she told you that she had read about the crash and that she was ready to deliver the children to you?

A—No, Mrs. Budlong. I don't recall that conversation.

Q—Did she ask you about some arrangements concerning the children, something about Mr. Budlong taking them to Florida? A—I told you that Mr. Budlong expected to have the children to live in New York and not Florida.

"She told me that she would not leave the apartment until the spirit moved her," the lawyer testified, Phillips has been charged for Budlong since 1922.

As I went into the front hall of the apartment, I picked up the telephone and I heard Mrs. Budlong telling a reporter that Mr. Budlong took her into the apartment and was starving her to death.

TALKED TO MRS. BUDLONG.
 I went to the door of the bedroom Mrs. Budlong occupied and told her that her husband wanted her to leave. We told her that we wanted a place for the children, she said she did not know where to go and that she would not leave the apartment until the spirit moved her.

The witness testified that he told her that the door would be forced open if she declined to leave and he said that he would only be there if she put me out.

"Then we pushed this door in and I ran into another bedroom where some valuable papers under her name, the witness said. We again asked her to leave and she said she had no idea of leaving."

It was four days before Mrs. Budlong asked for food, he said, although she was asked three times a day if she desired any. "She told us what she wanted and when we brought it to her she refused to take it, unless it was brought in a sealed package," he said.

It was several hours later that we brought her the food in a sealed package," he said.

WHEN A SOCIETY WIFE "GOES IN" FOR LAW
 Seated in the courtroom in Newport, Mrs. Budlong showed she was a lawyer of no mean ability by the brisk manner in which she shot questions at witnesses to defend herself from her husband's suit for divorce. Her famous "hunger strike" has just been bared.

TRAIN WRECK IN N. Y. SUBWAY

ated to the Interborough subway strike occurred early today at the South Ferry terminal of the Lexington avenue-Broadway local line.

A trolley subway train, operated by a novice motorman, jumped the track and crashed through a concrete wall, setting fire to a local train, from which passengers escaped by rushing to the tracks and getting to the street via an emergency exit.

No one was injured in the wreck.

Immediately after, three news-papers were assaulted and caused the arrest of two railway agents.

ALBERT MARSH, address unknown.

An unidentified woman and youth of eighteen or nineteen, who were taken to doctors' offices in private automobiles.

The injured policemen were passing along the sidewalk in front of the old State House when struck by the engine.

Gillette and Attard were hurt under the ladder truck, which passed over them without touching them, and they were picked up by the street and rushed to Haymarket R. R. Hospital in the district.

Several of the injured, besides Gillette and Attard, were treated at Haymarket R. R. Hospital, and all were sent home later.

FIRE DAMAGE $200.
 The apartment was responding to an alarm for a $20 fire in the Spaulding Lunch in Congress place, and William Dwyer was driving the engine and Phillips "flicked" the ladder-truck.

After first bumping, the police traffic officers stood in Society square, where Officer Edward Phillips' engine escaped unhurt. Engine 8 sped through Court street and reached Washington street at the same time that Ladder 1 reached that point.

In order to avert the collision, Dwyer swung his engine completely around on the sidewalk, the side air bursting off all the engines riding on the rear step.

CUT BY GLASS.
 The ladder-truck hugged the other sidewalk and in doing so struck Attard, whose hand and wrist were cut by the glass of one of the hood lights before he was struck and knocked into the street.

The injured woman was hit by a passer-by, and taken toward the R. R. Hospital in a private car but she was treated at the hospital.

The ladder-truck hurried for safety as the heavy vehicles lurched through the narrow street intersection.

An investigation was launched by Deputy Chief Edward Shallow of the fire department to fix the blame. According to some witnesses, the speed of the engine was excessive.

According to some witnesses, the speed of the engine was excessive. The officer to slow down, but other witnesses commented Dwyer, instead of his work in averting a collision.

WHY THE COURTS WON'T ANNOUNCE THE MARRIAGE OF A MAN OF 85 TO 11-YEAR-OLD MARY JOHNSON—Under the law of Florida any girl, regardless of age, may be married provided she has the consent of her parents. A bill will be introduced in the next Legislature to remedy this condition.

Meanwhile, this little girl remains Mrs. M. Dwyer, of Tampa. Read her story in the Boston Sunday Advertiser, February.

COAT, RING ARE CHIEF CLUES

Mr. who ordered criminals bearing the photograph and a description prepared for distribution to all police divisions in Boston and surrounding communities.

The murder gun was found in the wrecked automobile which the slayer fled after a mad dash in it through South End streets.

Clear photographic reproductions of finger prints found on the revolver and also on the automobile were obtained by the police today, and they are confident that a result complete identification will be made.

The slayer is believed to be hiding in the South End section of a report made by Earl Ray, one of the witnesses who has given a description of the murderer. Asking police protection, Ray declared he has found himself mysteriously followed through his home at night since the crime by a man whose face he has been unable to see because the shadower slips out of sight when Ray turns around.

Police declare if he is being followed because he is an important figure in the hunt for the murderer, his follower can hardly be any other person than the slayer himself, as there is no reason to suppose that the murderer has friends who are harboring and protecting him with a full knowledge of his name.

George Cook, Quincy restaurant owner who was arrested at a boarding house in that city and taken to East Dedham Street station, was viewed by several witnesses, but they failed to identify him, according to Police Captain Delahunt.

Cook was held, however, on that charge. Police say he was first arrested by station 3 policeman for opening his Sunday and failed to show up in court after having been bailed out. As a result he was arrested in Quincy on a drunkenness charge and is being held on that charge.

With the fingerprints, the white ring coat, the three-dimensional rubber ring and the murder gun, the hunters are more fortunately equipped than any other track down the slayer.

As the second suspect taken in the case—a man from Quincy—was being grilled today, Police Department Commissioner John J. Connelley, at the head of the investigation, was seen through the press, interviewing in a room on a first floor print and a portion of the third floor, left.

DORAH AND REED BOOMS ARE GROWING

Attitude of Pair on World Court Strengthen Presidential Chances of Each

Washington, July 9. (Universal)—Bill Borah of Idaho, Republican, and Jim Reed of Missouri, Democrat. These two men and their two wives are today being taken to the Presidential picture in the eyes of party officials watching the gyrations of the political weather.

While neither Borah nor Reed is an avowed candidate for the presidency in fact, both men at the suggestion-developments of the Congressional campaign may make them such formidable contenders that others now occupying the spotlight will be pushed into the shadows.

TO FIGHT COURT

Borah will leave shortly on a stumping tour against the World Court that will cause him to coast to coast.

At the same time, he intends to devote part of his time to a plea for enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment as long as it remains in the Constitution.

Although Senator Reed will have his hands full for the next few weeks with the "high fund" investigation in Illinois and other states, he has pledged himself to aid in the campaign to force the withdrawal of America from the World Court.

REED COMING STRONG

The next session of Congress has thrust Reed into the limelight more than any other Democrat in either house and he is now discussed in connection with 1928, along with Governor Smith of New York, W. G. McAdams and Governor Ritchie of Maryland.

Borah and Reed are at one on the World Court and, while differing on procedure, they are really not so far apart on the Constitutional aspect of the question. Both stand for enforcement and for temperance.

DEFIES CITY'S CHECKER BAN

Brookline, July 9.—Dennis F. "Shackley" Cronin, claimant of the checker championship designation, is rising in his wrath. Recently he was ordered to desist from playing a game of checkers on one of the public parks.

Cronin refused to play his favorite game in Parkville Park, and he threatened the police to arrest him. At the same time he defied Mayor Dewey and City Marshal Hayden to enforce any such ban.

London, July 9 (Universal).—Mrs. William Randolph Hearst left London for New York on the Majestic. On the eve of her departure, Mrs. Hearst dined with Lord D'Abernon, former British ambassador to Berlin, and was also one of the guests at the sixteenth century dinner given by Mrs. Benjamin Guinness at her Carlton House Terrace mansion.

The latter occasion was remarkable for the fact which was not disclosed in London, that two members of the royal family departed from the court custom of not appearing in public in costume. Princess Helena, Victoria and Princess Patricia Mannay were present at the dinner wearing period robes and head dresses.

The infantile Isadora was another guest wearing a sixteenth century Spanish costume. Mrs. Hearst was attended in accordance with the fashion of the day of Henry the Eighth. A house band was served at supper and the dance was attended by all the leaders of the London scene. ITALY NEEDS BALANCE OF TRADE, SAYS MUSSOLINI
Rome, July 9 (A.P.).—Recent weak news of the Italian exchange is due to an unfavorable trade balance, the opinion of Premier Mussolini, expressed at the inauguration of the National Export Institute, is that the cause of the decline lies with the National Export Institute.

LAST REASON, and for several months before that, the Thorndikes, per se and their daughters, belonged to the Bar Harbor.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY Dinner Dance to Be Held at the Nahant Club, Saturday

MIDSUMMER FESTIVITIES AT THE Nahant Club, where denizens of Nahant's smart Summer colony are wont to gather for their merry makings, are well under way. On Saturday next, there will be held the regular dinner-dance at which practically every Nahant drowsy in, Mrs. Edward P. Richardson is a Saturday hostess.

THE NAHANT CLUB IS, too, the summer habitat of an interesting group of young men—E. Mauran Beale, Jr.; John Harper, Alexander Lincoln, Charles C. Cabot, Sherwood Holmes, John O. Stables, Edward Brewer, and Charles W. Greenough are there, on the occasion of the advent of Malcolm, Jr.

MRS. WALDO H. BROWN (Frances Gray) was an extremely decorative member of the wedding entourage when her sister, Miss Elizabeth Gray, became Mrs. Nelson Benson Sackett at a pretty Summer ceremonial in the ancient Pilgrim church, down on the Cape in Haverhill.

THE BROWNS, of Line street at the foot of Pine Hill, in Winter, have their Summer home on the Cape, in Haverhill, where the senior Grays, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gray of Detroit, have a lovely place called Grosvenor. For pre-nuptial festivities Grosvenor was filled with guests, those who came to see the wedding as well as some of those who took part in it.

LITTLE JOHN NOBLE BROWN was ring bearer for his aunt, and Miss Anna Hayward Brown was flower girl. Mr. Waldo Brown was of the usher squad. Mr. and Mrs. Sackett sailed on the George Washington for a honeymoon journey abroad, and the autumn will live in New York.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY STEINER, of New York, are in Nahant. Mr. and Mrs. H. Greer have joined the outdoor band set and sailed yesterday from Nahant for a Summer in England. The Greers and one or more of their young people are one of the notable Bostonians who make frequent trips to the other side.

ROBERT JORDAN of Boston and Palm Beach is a passenger on the Olympic going to John May, Jordan for a round of European spas and social centres. During the Winter season at the Florida Riviera, the Jordans are frequently hosts at the picturesque resort of party for which Palm Beach has a reputation all its own.

BACK IN NEWPORT after a pilgrimage to the North Shore for the wedding of Miss Emily Sears and Henry Cabot Lodge, Miss Isabel Thorndike, Mrs. Helen Thorndike and Miss Natalie Hayes Merrill are social young women seen in the Casino-Bellevue Avenue-Bellevue's linen room of day-time Newport.

INTERESTING TITLES at Newport are worn by the Count and Countess Gilles de Baltimore, of Paris, who are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moran at their villa in Red Cross avenue.

GUESTS AT THE AMBASSADOR in New York include Mr. and Mrs. John J. Chickering, and their son, John, Jr., there for a brief stay recently. Also Robert Shaw Bradlee, Mrs. Ronald Watt and Miss Wilhelmina Cross have been at the hotel, another important New York hostess.

PEARL PRICES INCREASING
Paris, July 9 (Universal).—The price of pearls is increasing every day. This is mainly due, of course, to the depreciation of the French franc which encourages the purchase of pearls in order to get rid of paper money.

Indeed, pearls are getting scarce to the point where even jewelers are now glad to repurchase and pay a tremendous profit for the very necklaces they sold a few months ago.

Mrs. Edmond, formerly Mrs. Horace Folsom, is among the wealthy who has just refused to part with her necklace although a fifty per cent profit was offered.

At the same time Ralph Strassburger has just succeeded in obtaining what is believed to be the finest collection of loose pearls on the Paris market at present. He is reported to have obtained a great bargain for $200,000.

KRIM TO BE ISOLATED FROM MOSLEM WORLD
Paris, July 9 (A.P.).—The correspondent at San Sebastian in 'La Jorna' learns from Madrid that the Russian chiefdom, Abakim Krin, who surrendered to Spanish troops, will be interned at Reunion Island and not Madagascar as had been reported. It is explained that the French and Spanish governments desire to remove him from all contact with the Moslem world.

Spaniard, 112, Dies
Barcelona, July 9 (U.N.P.).—Pedro Martin, probably the oldest man in Spain, died today in his native village of Breda at the age of 112.

GOUGH GIRLS ADOPT BARE LEG FAD

Many Affecting Mannish
Clothes Minus Stockings

Seen on Streets
New York, July 9 (Universal).—Bare-legged girls in mannish clothes are attracting their share of attention in New York this Summer. They wear woven leather sandals with rubber soles, shapeless pairs of felt or straw, one-piece frocks and waists—only a mother could guess the real.

In time the feminine sportsman becomes so thoroughly imbued by the fact that it becomes difficult to tell whether the owners are wearing stockings or not. Those who took up the fad early in the season are turned to the color of copper.

The stockings fad is said to have been started in New York by a French actress recently imported by a firm of producers and now appearing in a revue. This young woman is extremely masculine in her dress and has procured some publicity through her preference for the blurs in appearance.

On the boardwalks near New York a great many stockings girls can be observed and it is not at all uncommon to meet them on Fifth and Madison avenues in the afternoon.

2,500,000 TONS OF SOOT CLOUD BRITISH CITIES

London, July 9 (A.P.).—The British Chamberlain, minister of health, adds to his laundry bill to cities because of 2,500,000 tons of soot poured into the air, it is claimed by Ne-castle bill before the House of Commons. Country people get 20 per cent more sunlight than those that live in the cities, he said, and inhabitants of Manchester pay 15 cents a week more for their laundry than those of nearby towns where there are no manufacturing plants.

DRY LAW FAILS, BISHOP WARNS

Canaan Grove, N. J., July 9 (A.P.)—Prohibition has been losing ground in the last eighteen months. In the opinion of Bishop Brenton Brady of Bunbury, Ind., "the American 'antimoral' civilization" is an address to the New York branch of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, he said. "I find a sterner moral, a lowered grip and a less clear vision. I think that prohibition has lost ground during the last eighteen months. If it fails, it is because there is not enough Christian manhood in the country to carry it to success."

BAR THOUSANDS FROM C. M. T. C.

Washington, July 9 (N.B.)—Thousands of young Americans eager to put themselves in the hands of army officers for thirty days of rigorous training will be unable to enter civil military training camps this year. Four thousand vacancies remained today because applicants had been unable to meet the War Department's demands for the War Department. The total number of applications has reached 42,000, while quotas of all camps number only 35,000. Get your bearings thru the Classified Ads.

CABINET FLITS, CAPITAL NODS

Washington, July 9 (N.B.)—It's vacation-time, and the men who guide the government are tired. Motivated by a broad new philosophy of legislation, the government, as an active animal, has rolled over and virtually gone to sleep. The session started by President Coolidge will be followed by every member of the cabinet, except two. Secretary of State Kellogg will stay here to keep tabs on cabinet matters while the "Boss" is away. Secretary Hoover intends to find sectional advice in work. Attorney General Sargent, a veteran fisherman, is back in Vermont. Secretary Jardine and Postmaster General New will follow the stream. Secretary Mellon will motor through Belgium, France, Germany and Italy, winding up at Rome to meet his daughter, the recent bride of David K. E. Bruce, son of Senator Bruce.

LINER DE GRASSENOW NEARING NEW YORK

New York, July 9 (A.P.)—The French liner De Grassenow will be back in port probably tonight her starboard turbine having been damaged when she was 500 miles away from Europe. Captain Aubert reports all well on board. The St. Louis passenger ship was transferred to a Royal Mail liner Ohio, the American liner Cleveland and the Hollander liner liner Brooklyn, all sailing tomorrow.

DESPITE WINE, DEBS DON'T DO CHARLESTON FOR KING

London, July 9 (N.B.)—That King George is an excellent drunk is the opinion today following the last of the summer court. According to estimates of the royal officers, 1,000 bottles of champagne were served to 5,000 guests. Both drinks were obtainable for Americans and there were hundreds of other dainties for the hungry and thirsty guests. Dancing continued for nearly three hours after the presentations, but not a single debaucher had the courage to attempt the Charleston, perhaps having in mind that a year ago the Prince of Wales was rudely rebuffed by the King when he attempted the Tango at a court. Sober dances of the good old days were in order, the influence of American jazz being almost entirely absent. "JAZZ RELIGION" HIT BY METHODIST PASTOR

Belfast, July 9 (N.B.)—"Jazz religion" and "religious holiganism" came in for a conjugation at the Methodist conference here by Rev. T. J. Allen of Belfast. "There is a wonderful ignorance of the New Testament among a certain class," he said. "They prefer a kind of jazz religion, which demands plenty of emotionalism and sermons as shallow as the Francis Lee pick up in the streets. It is religious holiganism."

SEEK TO AVERT CONFUSION IN RADIO

Washington, July 9 (A.P.)—Communication Department officials are trying to work out a method to prevent a chaotic situation in radio broadcasting pending enactment by Congress of legislation to provide regulation of the industry and the control of the media.

In view of the results of the decision of the Supreme Court in the Radio Commission case, the Communication Department finds itself without authority to control broadcasting through the assignment of wave lengths to stations. The law introduced at the last session of Congress to deal with the situation failed of enactment.

At present, more than 500 stations hold licenses and have long assignments issued by the department, and applications have been filed by more than 600 others. Practically all available wave lengths have been apportioned among the license holders and officials have urged that something be done to prevent the interference which would result.

'Cussing' the Golf Ball Means Fine in Italian City

Genoa, Italy, July 9 (A.P.)—"Over-vicious language," in the streets and public places, including golf courses, of Genoa, is made an offense under a new municipal ordinance.

A fine of from $5 to $50 may be levied for such conviction. The ordinance is provisional, pending a new municipal penal code which will be submitted to the city council.

KILLED MAN WHO, HE SAYS, STOLE HIS WIFE

New York, July 9 (A.P.)—Frank Kats, twenty-eight, a leather dealer, shot and killed Benjamin Holzman, forty, to death early today while Holzman slept in his apartment, according to police.

"I killed him because he stole my wife," Kats told police when arrested at the home of his mother.

Holzman's jewelry "was seen and the upper part of his body slashed with a dull knife."

Mrs. Kats left her husband two months ago, taking her baby daughter, detectives learned. Holzman formerly boarded at the Kats home.

LABOR PUTS BAN ON MISSION TO RUSSIA

Washington, July 9 (A.P.)—Warning against sending a mission to Soviet Russia in the name of American labor, an appeal to organized labor for funds to assist the anti-Communist mission, and an assault on the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor.

The council said efforts were being made by some labor men and others to form a commission to visit Russia and other European countries for the ostensible purpose of making an investigation of economic conditions, social and political conditions.

"We seriously doubt the good faith of such a self-constituted commission," the council said. "We cannot believe any representative of labor or organization affiliated with the American Federation of Labor will accept membership on such a commission."

In its appeal for funds for the Russian mission, the council said the money "will be used exclusively for the purpose of supplying food, clothing and the necessities of life to the laboring families." Their condition was described as "deplorable."

Attacking Communist activities, the council said that it feared "organizations assuming to speak for labor, and which the executive council believes are Communist."

HITS COMMUNISTS

The "united front committee" backing the Russian textile strike was denounced, the statement saying its leaders "are prominently identified with the Communist movement in the United States."

It was explained that the committee, inspired by "sentiments of humanism," had not interfered with the contributions to the textile strike, but that it had "been able to organize a 'bona fide labor organization' as they could not be used in striking leaders who are associated with the Communist organization and who are hostile to the American Federation of Labor."

WIFE DIVORCES MORTUARY

A limited decree was granted four years ago, after she alleged her husband, Thomas Mortuaries, fell in love with a beautiful Parisian, Marie Mortuaries, while abroad in the army during the war, and refused to return to her.

The limited decree was followed by his marriage to the Parisian. The Mortuaries family is one of the oldest in Virginia. Mrs. Mortuaries is thirty-one years old.

Paris, July 9 (A.P.)—Police investigation of the alleged plot to assassinate King Alfonso while he recently had fled to another arrest, that of a man going under the name Juan Cort, but whose real name is Joseph Alameda, police say. He is about twenty-five years old, a brick mason and said police he had been following his trade near Paris for eighteen months.

He denied he knew either Acadia or Penaventura Durati, alleged to have been the ringleaders in the plot. Alameda is wanted in Spain and South America on various charges, police say.

Chicago Expert Negotiates First 27 Holes at Scioto in 104 Strokes

By DAVID J. WALSH.

July 9 (U.S.A.)—Bill Wehlhorn of Chicago gave another advertising exhibition in the national open golf championship this morning in playing the first nine holes of the course in a par 36 with his 16 of yesterday, gave him twenty-seven holes total of 104 and placed the burden of further proof clearly on the rest of the field.

The remarkable feature of Wehlhorn's first nine holes was the slightness of the put figures on his score card. His first putt on the first hole was a 20, and he made the putt the way the ball had him to do it.

Wehlhorn was in trouble only twice and each time he extricated himself without the loss of a stroke.

At the sixth, for instance, he missed his second shot in a trap and his third over the green. Upon which he missed his putt, but he took a nibble and chipped back, accurately that the ball hit the back of the cup and fell dead.

At the eighth he was in a trap again with the second, but another accurate chip sent and the putt and him a par at 8. At the night, a twenty-foot putt that would have been a 20, he made it with a 16.

On the morning play with a 36, he had a 21 of yesterday, leaving him up with the tournament.

He started out yesterday, however, and followed a 21 with a 36 on the morning play.

He had a 21 of yesterday, leaving him up with the tournament.

AUSTER SILENCE MARKS A.A.U. ATTITUDE IN HOFF BAN

FANS SEEK ANSWER TO 5 QUERIES

A. A. U. Stands Pat on Intention of Not Giving Action Opening for Legal Action

Why did the A. A. U. ban Charlie Hoff, American prize fighter, from competing further under his auspices?

Was it because it felt that Hoff's sportsmanship was at fault in breaking the fight record on both sides at a time during his career as a prize fighter?

Was it because it disapproved of his retaining his brother-in-law, Mr. Dean, as his manager or representative during his tour of the country?

Was it because of the question of Hoff's record on the part of Hoff's own countrymen and girls for his appearance as an "illegal fighter"?

Jimmy Slattery's Star Fades as Contender for Laurels

New York, July 9 (I.N.S.)—Boxing experts were united today in declaring that Jimmy Slattery, the prize of Hoff, has passed out of the picture as a possible winner of the middleweight or light-heavyweight title.

Making his first appearance here last night since his return from Europe, Slattery won the decision of Hoff in a two-round bout, but was only a shadow of the Slattery who a year ago was hailed as another Jim Corbett.

Slattery lost only two rounds, but was timid and over-cautious and did not get going until the last two rounds. Sage, making his debut, won the seventh and eighth rounds by pushing Slattery to the ropes in a series of heavy attacks.

British Newspapers Misquoted Hagen

By BILL GRIMES.

HOW that Walter Hagen's denial that he ever stated that the reason English players were failing to hold their place in the world of golf was due to their being too conservative and not being aggressive enough, when "The States" was asked to have made the above statement, was a story by an English newspaper man to make Walter Hagen, the world champion, look like a fool.

Subjects ever has accused Walter Hagen of being dumb or lacking in brains. Hagen has never been accused of being a liar.

It is a fact that Hagen has never been accused of being a liar. It is a fact that Hagen has never been accused of being a liar.

HOW ONE FAMILY USES ITS BUDGET

Boston Evening American Offers Aid to Housewives in Planning Expenditures of Income

EIGHT years ago a family of five realized that they were making no headway, were indeed slipping back rather than progressing.

A family council was called and a drastic budget made cutting down all possible expenses. By this revision they accumulated enough in five years to make a first payment on a home.

Their problem may be your problem, so I am giving it to the budget editor of the Boston Evening American. Enclosed please find a two-cent stamp for which please send me one of your Home Budget forms.

IT'S wonderful to think that you can become a shikie on drivers' payments.

OF course some people take advantage of credit. One woman owes the doctor for three cures.

AND she's six weeks behind on her dose.

SHE hasn't even made last month's payment on her wrinkles.

SHE'S had her face lifted so often that she has to climb up on the Woolworth Building to brush her teeth.

GOOD looks are so easily obtained nowadays that you no longer have to keep the face you were born with.

A GIRL waits until she's seventeen or eighteen and then trades it in for a new one.

DAILY SHORT STORY

BIG HALE AND LITTLE HALE

By Jack Woodford

DORA had some of the kind of stock that passed out into the wilderness years ago and reclaimed deserts and put smiling farms where frowning and sparsely once had been. Some of this old stock remained in her blood, though in her generation, life in the West was quite different from what it now is in the East.

She was, most decidedly, in the habit of making the best of things, however badly things looked. Her affair with Creighton she had to admit, had turned out pretty badly, but instead of throwing herself into the river or becoming a man hater she set out studying the situation from all angles.

She decided, that, inasmuch as she had been tremendously drawn toward Creighton in the first place, so to permit him to come into her life to an extent that no other man ever had before, there must be some thing in him which she would like as long as she lived.

He was wealthy, had been wealthy all of his life, and he had been spoiled, more or less deliberately, by over-indulgent parents. At first she had considered that he had treated her pretty badly, but the more she thought it over, the more she began to see that it was hardly his fault. She began to imagine what she might be like if she had been spoiled for years by over-indulgent parents and too much money.

Finally, one afternoon shortly after she had discovered that Creighton did not ever intend to marry her, she left New York with out even telling him that she was going.

She went to Chicago, got a good job and, when she was on her feet financially, went to an orphanage and looked at the little inmates. There were babies of all ages, shapes, sizes and origins. After several days looking, she finally picked out a pink little cherub over a year old and took it home with her.

She engaged a woman in the building where she lived to look after the baby during the day, and at night she hurried home to spend her evenings with it. She had adopted it, she moved or less for a purpose, but she found her purpose wholly subjugated to a bigger thing, the love that began to grow at once in her heart for the baby. She planned how she would reform its life from what it might have been, had it grown up in the orphanage. When she was in the baby, he went white as a sheet, then grinned at it and kissed it. His eyes questioned her, but she shook her head.

"No," she laughed. "I had intended to tell you that it was, but I care less now what you do."

"You mean that you no longer love me?" he breathed.

"Well, no, not exactly; at least, I don't love anyone else, in the way I loved you; and I don't think that I ever shall. No, it's just that my whole interest in life now centers around 'Baby Hale'."

"Listen, Dora," he said huskily. "There has never been a minute since you left that I haven't hunted for you high and low. I've sent thousands of dollars trying to locate you."

"Why?" she inquired directly. "You had me once, and you--"

"Yes, I know. It didn't understand then that what I felt for you was not what I have felt for other women. It's something different."

Together, and calls for a different ending. It calls for the sort of ending that a pious poet's here; I want you to marry me."

"You ought to know, first," she went on slowly, "that I went to Chicago and adopted this child with the intention of returning here and deceiving you."

"Then you must care for me," was his rejoinder to this. She smiled and looked down at little Hale, who was playing upon the floor with a two hundred dollar watch that Big Hale had cheerfully consigned to him.

"I'll marry him, Little Hale!" Dora asked, smiling down at the baby.

"Hah," he said, non-committally, too interested in the watch to understand that what I felt for you was not what I have felt for other women. It's something different."
